Nathalyn Nunoo

Product Designer (UX/UI)

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Product Design Intern, Pivotal (May 2018 - present)

Pivotal provides a platform, tools and methodologies for established companies to build, deploy and manage software. I'm working with Pivotal's cloud-native platform, Pivotal Cloud Foundry, which enables developers to spend more time writing code and operators to improve security and uptime. I'm doing this by pairing with a product manager intern to redesign Apps Manager, a major tool for enterprise developers.

- UX design — Implement new product features and design modifications using a user-centered approach and practices. Rapidly iterate on design prototypes and communicate design decisions with designers, engineering, and product management.

- Research — Recruit and conduct interviews with users and stakeholders. Use discovery and frameworking processes to iterate on product flow.

- Cross-team collaboration — Collaborate with product manager intern, product manager, senior designers, engineers both within and outside team to understand business requirements and develop product solutions.

Product Designer, Remodelmate (November 2017 - May 2018)

Remodelmate helps homeowners renovate their home in a easy, transparent and efficient process. I was brought on the team to redesign a new, automated platform that allows users to create new projects, explore renovation options and manage their project easily. I also created Remodelmate's first design system, and redesigned the brand identity to reflect the product's new direction and company goals.

Director of Events, Startup Shell (July 2017 - June 2018)

Startup Shell is a non-profit, student-run incubator and co-working space at the University of Maryland that fosters entrepreneurship through collaboration. As director of events I plan, organize and market talks, workshops and other activities both internally and for the general public. I also secure resources for our members and lead recruitment.

Cofounder and Designer, POSH (March 2016 - July 2017)

POSH simplifies the way people book beauty services by connecting freelance beauty professionals with the people who need them. I focused on design for the product and brand identity - building the experience of the service, performing customer research. As a founder I lead in marketing and client acquisition. I also worked on developing a contractor network; working in recruiting, freelancer engagement and management.

EDUCATION

B.S. Neurology and Physiology University of Maryland, Fall 2018

PORTFOLIO

nathalyn.com

CONTACT

✉ nathalyn.nunoo@gmail.com

🐦 @nathalynnunoo

in in/nathalyn

TOOLS

Sketch
Adobe Photoshop + Illustrator
Figma
Invision
HTML, CSS, Javascript